ABOUT ASP

Initiated in July 2010, the Academic Support Program (ASP) was designed to enhance peer-to-peer learning at the University. This innovative program serves as a catalyst for improved and simplified understanding of various subjects, utilizing a student-facilitated learning approach and equipping them with essential tools and resources to foster a comprehensive understanding of their academic material.

During its inaugural year, ASP selected eleven diligent students from all academic years (first through fourth) to serve as Student Members to effectively coordinate educational sessions. They collaborated with high-achieving and senior students, who volunteered to mentor their peers, ensuring that these educational gatherings were held outside of regular class times. This arrangement allowed for the successful completion of 50 enriching sessions in its first year, supported by 27 volunteer teaching assistants from various cohorts.

Since its inception in July 2010, the Academic Support Program (ASP) has grown significantly, transforming from a small initiative into a comprehensive support network that reaches a wide spectrum of students. The remarkable growth, conducting more than 100 sessions in each semester, underscores ASP's dedication to fostering an inclusive academic environment, where peer-to-peer learning thrives, and every student has access to the resources and guidance needed to excel in their studies.

Development of ASP

The Academic Support Program (ASP) at the University proudly upholds its mission as a student-driven initiative, dynamically adapting to meet the evolving needs of its students while steadfastly maintaining its foundational principles and academic integrity. Established nearly 12 years ago, ASP has consistently demonstrated growth and success, reflecting its commitment to academic excellence and collaborative learning.

In the 2022-2023 academic year, ASP notably expanded its reach, involving approximately 60 teaching assistants from the second to fifth years, and successfully conducted 250 sessions. This significant increase in both the number of sessions and participant engagement underscores ASP's dedication to fostering an environment of peer-supported education.

The program also thrived during the challenging times of the pandemic, maintaining a strong academic support network at GNLU. In the 2021-2022 academic year, over 50 teaching assistants and 15 student members and volunteers across various batches facilitated more than 100 sessions. These efforts ensured that the academic culture remained robust and supportive despite external uncertainties. Moreover, ASP now offers concept-clearing sessions throughout the semester and specialized sessions aimed at enhancing performance in exams and other assessments.

Some of those initiatives include the General Semester Orientation Sessions offering students a roadmap to navigate their academic journey effectively, providing insights into study planning, exam preparation, and the relevance of subjects to future career prospects. Meanwhile, the GNLU ASP Mock Examination (GAME) simulates the end-semester exam experience, helping students practice time management and exam strategies in a realistic setting. Through more of such innovative verticals, ASP continues to expand its impact, ensuring that every student receives the support they need to thrive academically.

The collective efforts of team and students helps ASP to continue its process of energizing and serving the academic community with the same passion and commitment that it has always been known for, truly embodying the spirit of student-led collaboration and support.

YEARLY REVIEW

Statistics

The number of sessions conducted by ASP has been increasing at an exponential rate with 100+ sessions being conducted almost every academic year from AY 2022-2023. As seen below, the sessions from AY 2021-2022 to AY 2022-2023 have doubled in size. This reflects ASP's dedication towards furthering the objective of peer-to-peer learning.

No. of sessions

OUTCOME

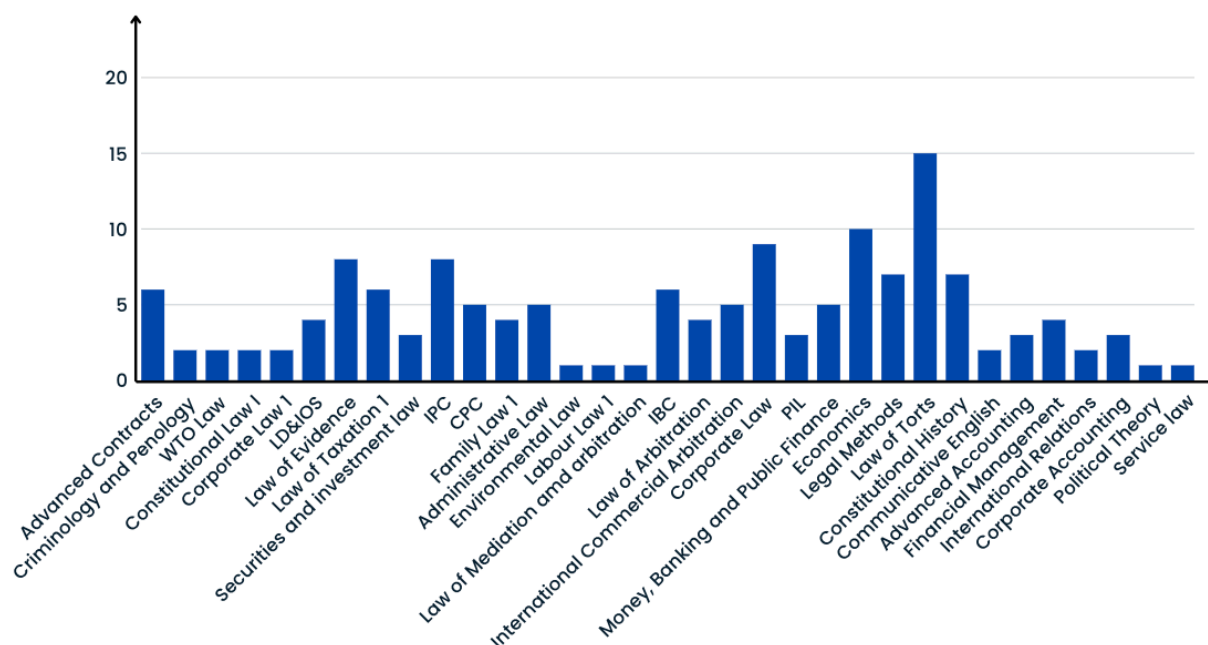

Academic Year 2021-2022

The record sheet for the odd semester of the AY 2021-22 showed that the number of sessions conducted was reduced further to 53 sessions compared to the even semester of the AY 2020-21. However, the ASP worked on this setback and successfully managed to deflect it, completing 62 sessions by 7th April in the AY 2021-22 with more sessions scheduled to be conducted in the present academic year.

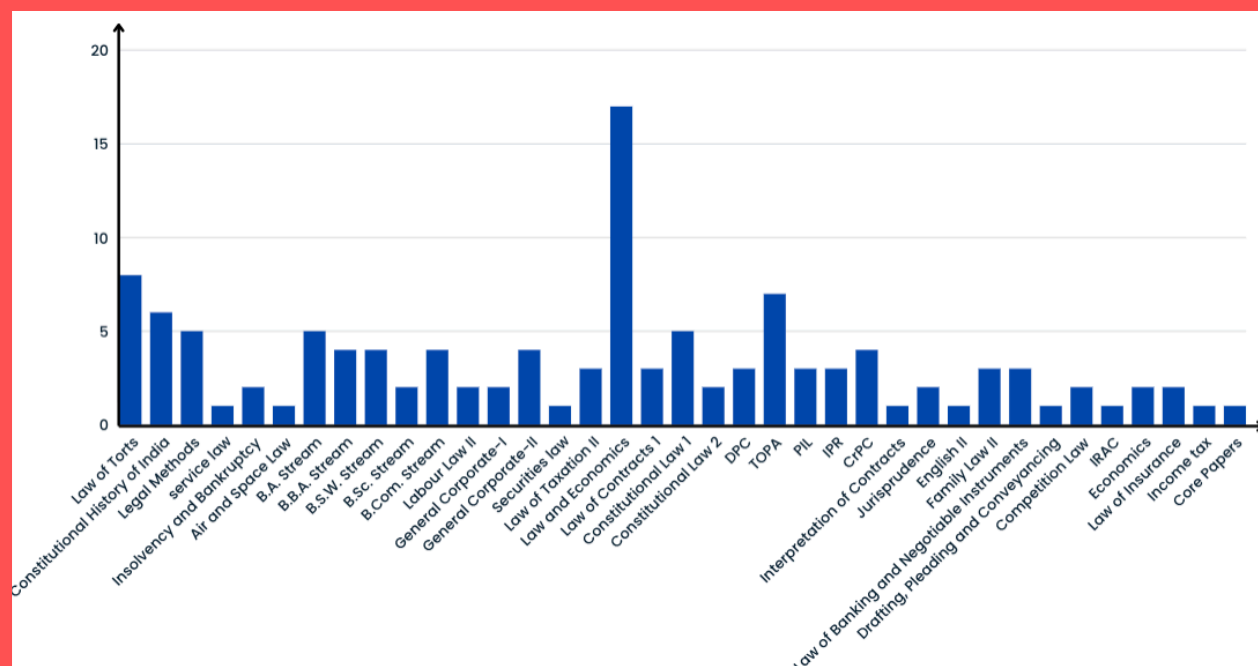

Academic Year 2022-2023

The academic year 2022-2023 (odd and even semesters) has seen an exponential growth in the number of sessions conducted. More than 200 sessions were conducted in the academic year. Law and economics is one subject which topped the chart in the even semester followed by law of torts, which was another subject which had a good number of sessions in both the semesters.

ACHIEVEMENTS

Intorduction of GAME Initiative

Mock examinations are a valuable tool for students to familiarize themselves with the exam format, identify their strengths and weaknesses, and gain confidence before facing the real test. We introduced the GNLU ASP Mock Examination (GAME) program in the 2022-2023 academic session. This program proved beneficial for the 2027 batch, providing them with a realistic simulation of the end-semester examinations conducted at GNLU. By participating in GAME, students can gain valuable insights into the format, difficulty level, and time management required for success in their actual exams.

Introduction of GROW (General Research Orientation Workshops) Sessions

Research forms the cornerstone of the law school experience. While seemingly straightforward, conducting effective research can be a daunting task. Moreover, strong research skills are essential for crafting publishable legal papers, blogs, and arguments. In recognition of this, the ASP introduced GROW, a program designed to equip students with the tools necessary to excel in legal research. Through GROW, students were able to learn the effective strategies for conducting thorough legal research, develop the ability to critically evaluate and select credible sources for their research projects and refine their research skills, which are invaluable assets throughout their legal careers.

Increasing the size of ASP with intake of more TA's and Batch coordinators

The humble beginning of ASP can be traced back to 2011-12 when GNLU initiated a creative academic programme to help students and get direct guidance from the senior students in the academic field apart from the regular teachings. The programme started with 27 students as teaching assistants. But with the progress of ASP and increasing sessions, more TAs and batch coordinators were included in the ASP family (presently more than 100 members) to conduct smooth functioning of the sessions and redistribution of the increased workload.

More than 200 sessions conducted

The Academic Support Program (ASP) is proud to announce a remarkable achievement: the successful completion of over 200 sessions in a single academic year. This significant milestone surpasses previous records, demonstrating the program's growth and effectiveness. The increased number of sessions can be attributed to several factors, including a more streamlined program structure, heightened student participation, robust faculty support, dedicated volunteer engagement, and the program's ability to adapt to evolving student needs. This achievement has a positive impact on the university community, as it contributes to improved academic performance, enhanced student satisfaction, strengthened peer relationships, and a greater appreciation for the value of peer-to-peer learning.

ASP VERTICALS

General Semester Orientation Sessions

The ASP General Semester Orientation Series is designed to provide students with a comprehensive roadmap for navigating their academic journey. Through a series of informative sessions, the program aims to equip students with the necessary tools and strategies to excel in their studies. By delving into specific subjects offered in each semester, the series offers invaluable insights into effective study planning, exam preparation, and continuous evaluation. Students will gain a clear understanding of how to approach different subjects, balancing theoretical knowledge with practical application. The sessions also emphasize the significance of each subject in relation to future career prospects, empowering students to make informed decisions about their academic path. Furthermore, the series provides practical guidance on essential study habits, including note-taking techniques, recommended textbooks, and supplementary reference materials. By sharing valuable tips and best practices, the orientation seeks to optimize students' learning experience and enhance their overall academic performance. Ultimately, the ASP General Semester Orientation Series is committed to fostering a supportive and informative environment where students can thrive academically.

Weekly Session Series

The ASP Weekly Session Series is designed to provide students with in-depth conceptual clarity and comprehensive exam preparation. Recognizing the unique challenges faced by each batch, ASP offers tailored support through dedicated sessions focused on specific subjects. Students can request assistance with any subject that is causing them difficulty or for which they desire additional clarification before tests. In response to these requests, ASP assigns senior students as Teaching Assistants to conduct specialized sessions. These experienced students offer invaluable guidance, answer questions, and create a supportive learning environment. By providing this targeted support, the Weekly Session Series aims to enhance students' understanding of course material, boost confidence, and ultimately improve academic performance.

Academic Support Series on End-Semester Tests (ASSET)

As the end-semester exams approach, the Academic Support Programme (ASP) starts its Academic Support Series on End-semester Tests (ASSET) series. This series is designed to equip students with the necessary tools and strategies to excel in their upcoming examinations. By offering in-depth guidance on exam preparation, question paper analysis, answer structuring, time management, and essential resources, ASSET aims to empower students to approach their exams with confidence. The sessions will delve into specific strategies for each core and stream paper, providing tailored advice to optimize performance. Furthermore, the series will familiarize students with the offline examination environment at GNLU, addressing any concerns or queries related to the exam format. By conducting these sessions a month in advance, ASP allows ample time for students to implement the learned strategies and create a personalized study plan. Through ASSET, ASP strives to create a supportive and informative platform that empowers students to achieve their academic goals.

GNLU ASP Mock Examination (GAME)

ASP conducts GAME (GNLU ASP Mock Examination), an initiative designed to simulate the end-semester exam experience. By providing students with a realistic exam environment, GAME aims to enhance exam preparation and boost confidence. Through GAME, students got the opportunity to practice time management, answer structuring, and overall exam strategy. The mock examination covered a reasonable portion of the syllabus, allowing students to assess their knowledge and identify areas for improvement. Following the exam, dedicated discussion sessions led by Senior Student Teaching Assistants (SSTAs) provided valuable insights into effective exam-taking techniques and answer evaluation. While the mock exam itself was not graded, the feedback provided by the SSTAs was instrumental in refining students' exam preparation. By participating in GAME, students significantly enhanced their readiness for the upcoming end-semester examinations.

Career Opportunity Programme Series (COPS)

The COPS (Career Opportunity Program Series) series is designed to provide students with comprehensive information and guidance on a diverse range of career paths. By offering sessions on various fields, from CA and CS to think tanks, judiciary, and policy-making, ASP-COPS aims to equip students with the knowledge and tools needed to make informed career decisions. The series features both accomplished alumni and current students who have excelled in their respective fields.

Through their insights and experiences, participants will gain valuable perspectives on the practical aspects of different career opportunities, including eligibility criteria, required preparation, and potential job roles. It fosters a platform for students to explore their interests, connect with professionals, and develop a clear understanding of the steps necessary to pursue their chosen career paths. By providing early exposure to a variety of career options, ASP-COPS empowers students to make well-informed decisions about their future and embark on successful professional journeys.

General Research Orientation Workshop (GROW)

The General Research Orientation Workshop (GROW) is designed to equip students with the essential research skills necessary for academic and professional success. This comprehensive program spans two semesters, providing a structured approach to mastering the research process. In the first year, GROW focuses on building foundational research skills through a series of 6-7 sessions. These sessions are tailored to assist students in excelling in their continuous evaluation tests (CET), intra-moot competitions, and internships. By introducing fundamental research concepts and methodologies, GROW empowers students to conduct effective research for various academic endeavors. Moreover, the sessions delve deeper into advanced research techniques, with a specific emphasis on publication and CET-based projects. Building upon the knowledge gained in the first few sessions, GROW explores different research formats such as research papers, articles, blogs, and case analysis. Students learned how to select suitable research topics, structure their work effectively, and identify appropriate platforms for publication.

Additionally, the workshop covered the intricacies of the publication process, including peer review and empirical research methodologies. Through GROW, students developed the ability to conduct high-quality research, enhancing their academic performance, critical thinking skills, and overall professional development.

Get-Ready with ASP (GRASP)

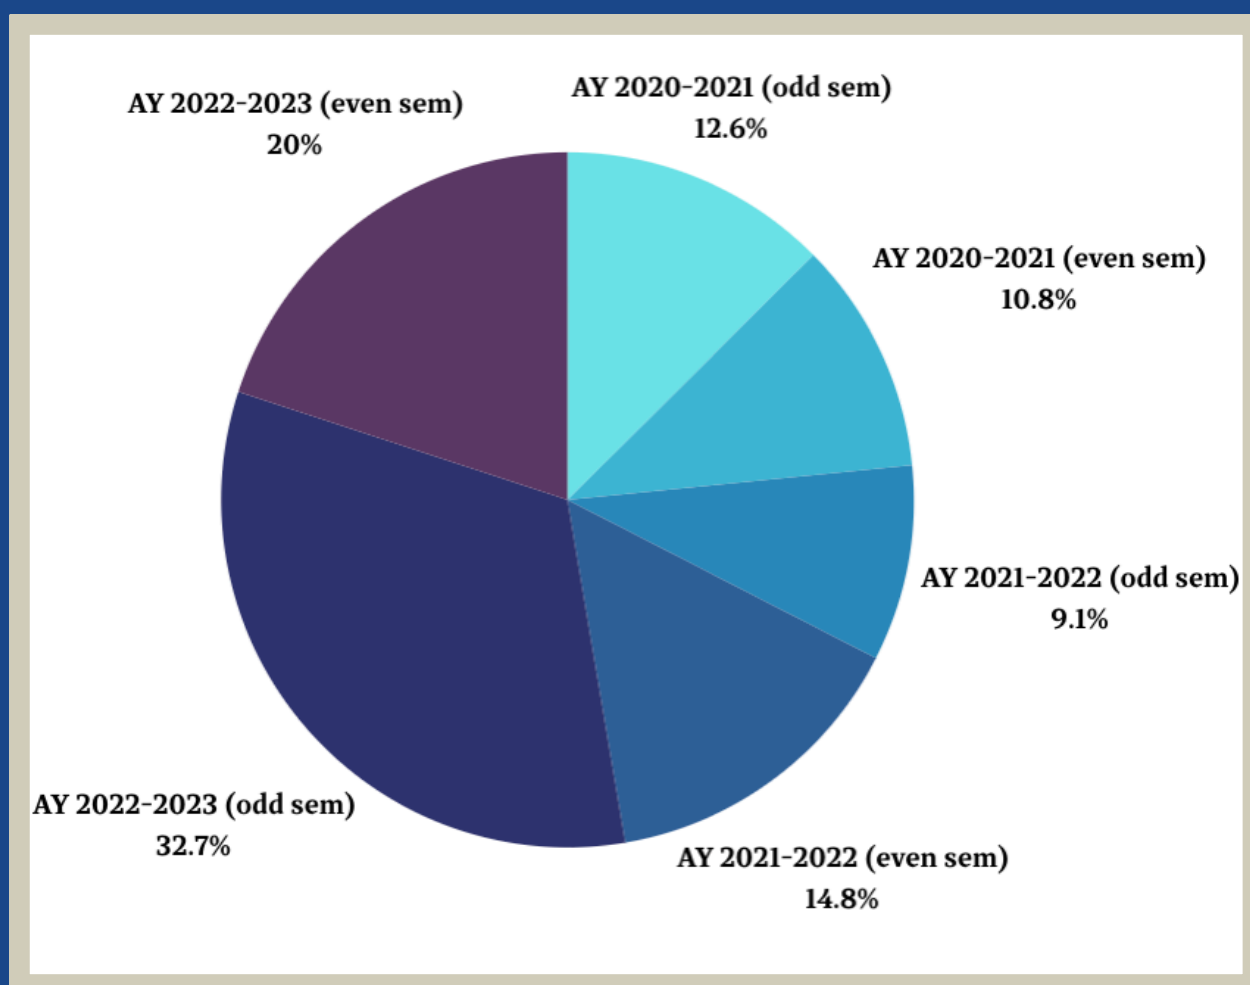

The GR-ASP (Get Ready with ASP) Series is designed to equip law students with a comprehensive understanding of key legal concepts and their practical applications. By focusing on subjects that are highly relevant to internships, career prospects, and research, GR-ASP aims to provide students with a strong foundation for their legal journey. Through a combination of theoretical explanations and practical case analysis, the series delved into the intricacies of various legal domains. Students gained a broader perspective on the subject matter, fostering critical thinking and problem-solving abilities. GR-ASP also emphasized the connection between academic learning and real-world legal practice, preparing students for the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead in their legal careers. Ultimately, the GR-ASP series seeks to enhance students' understanding of the law, broaden their career horizons, and inspire a passion for legal research and publication.

The Repository

The Question Paper Repository is a centralized hub providing students with access to previous years' examination papers across all batches, subjects, and electives. This resource is designed to aid students in understanding exam patterns, preparing effectively, and optimizing their study strategies. By analyzing past question papers, students can gain valuable insights into the types of questions asked, the weightage of different topics, and the overall exam structure. This information empowers students to focus their preparation on relevant areas and enhance their performance in upcoming examinations.

ASP over the past three years

There has been a significant progress in the way ASP has functioned in the past three year in the terms of number of sessions conducted, intake of TA's and coordinators, introduction of new initiatives or the number of beneficiaries.

Mascots play a crucial role in building a connection with the targeted audience by adding a unique and memorable visual element to a brand or concept. ASPIre, introduced as ASP's mascot, not only makes the learning process fun but also helps students better understand topics and remember them. This visual representation enhances engagement and facilitates retention, contributing to a more effective learning experience. Moreover, mascots often serve as a symbol of unity and pride within a community, fostering a sense of belonging and enthusiasm among students.

SOCIAL MEDIA

The integration of social media engagement platforms like Instagram, Twitter, and LinkedIn, along with targeted audience social media tools, serves as innovative channels for connecting with various stakeholders such as current students, prospective students, alumni, faculty, and staff.

The GNLU Academic Support Programme recognizes the importance of these platforms and effectively utilizes them to achieve its objectives. Through a dedicated social media team, engaging content tailored for each platform is curated to ensure effective communication with stakeholders. Currently, ASP maintains an active presence on Instagram, Twitter, and LinkedIn. These platforms allow us to foster meaningful interactions and build a strong community within our network. We continuously strive to enhance our social media strategies to better engage with our audience and provide valuable resources and support through these channels.

SOCIAL MEDIA POSTS & WHY

1) Informational Posts: These updates serve as a vital link, keeping students informed about ongoing and upcoming sessions, as well as past ASP statistics, fostering a culture of transparency. They also herald upcoming initiatives like the introduction of GR-ASP, ensuring students are well-prepared and engaged. Additionally, engaging caricatures of select case laws accompanied by concise summaries offer a visually appealing and educational approach to complex legal concepts.

2) Quizzes: Embracing the interactive nature of social media, ASP introduces daily quizzes on Instagram's story feature, providing students with a convenient and enjoyable way to test their knowledge across various subjects. With five questions per day covering diverse topics throughout the week, students are encouraged to actively participate and reinforce their learning.

3) Motivational Posts: Introducing a weekly dose of inspiration, Monday Motivation uplifts spirits and instills positivity among students, encouraging them to stay focused and motivated in their academic journey. Each week, a graphic image featuring a motivational quote serves as a beacon of encouragement, fostering a supportive and uplifting online community.

4) Feedback: In addition to engaging content, ASP actively solicits feedback and suggestions from the student community, fostering a culture of open communication and continuous improvement. Through regular posts explaining the importance of feedback, students are encouraged to voice their opinions, ensuring that ASP remains responsive to their evolving needs and preferences.
